THINK HEALTHY.

"American consumers are in the midst of "a wellness reset," reports The Hartmann Group. There is "an increase in health-conscious consumers seeking more protein and energy options in their diet," says Convenience Store News.

More than 6 out of 10 of consumers say that convenience & healthfulness drive their food purchases.

86% of consumers snack, averaging 3.3 snacks per day.

64% of U.S. consumers are trying to consume more protein.

"The prevalence of purchasing snacks throughout the day has made its mark in foodservice settings," says FoodService Director.
